The 700 Welch families from the coal regions of Pennsylvania, who sometime since sent an agent to examine into the inducements the Northwest offers to immigrants, have decided to settle in Enstern Washington terr tory, between Sprague and the Big Bend country. The agent's report was very favorable. The 700 families number, all told, 3000 persons, and they are the largest colony that have ever changed their place of abade.

The representatives of the Oregon Improvement company at the Newcastle coal issues have given the men an opportantly to go to work if they see fit to do go. A notice bus been posted at the mines stating that men working in the breasts will be employed 32 per day, and that hops will be employed on the screens to pick be slate from the coal. A number of men who had left Newcastle have recurned to that pince, and a meeting of the operatives will probably be beld to-day to consider the proposition.
